JACK SWARTHOUT

Athletic Director and Head Football Coach

Since assuming the duties of both head football coach and athletic director at the University of Montana last year, Jack Swarthout has put a drive into the University's athletic program which has not been seen in Missoula for many years. Its immediate results showed in the 7-3 football record last fall, the best mark the school has had since 1937.

Swarthout came to Montana, where he played football (1940-42), from a high school position in Olympia, Wash., where his football teams compiled a 50-24-2 record in seven seasons.

TODAY'S GAME

Twelve Lumberjacks make their final appearance under the Blue and Gold colors of NAU—defensive back Chick Harris, fullback Lacy Colter, defensive back Bruce Branstrom, linebacker Ernie Redmond, defensive end Bud Wiedoff, linebacker David Frank, tackle Ted Nelson, guard Ozie Slade, tackle Bob Glassner, guard Larry Small, tackle Dennis Kiefer, and guard Luigi DiFelice.

The Lumberjacks take a three-game winning streak and a 5-4 won-lost record against the Montana Grizzlies who have a 2-6 record.

The 1968 season hasn't been all it was cut out to be for Montana. The Silvertips were pre-season choices to cop the Big Sky Conference title and tabbed by some to go undefeated.

But after seven games, the Grizzlies are once again in the cellar of the Big Sky loop, and have won but 2 of 6 games. It all started with a relatively easy 37-10 victory over tough North Dakota, and it looked like pre-season predictions would be borne out.

The following week they stumbled to South Dakota, 21-0, but bounced back strong against Portland State, 58-0, and from then on it's been five straight losses to Idaho, 56-45; Idaho State, 23-13; Utah State, 50-3; Montana State, 29-24 and to Weber State, 20-16.

Every pass thrown, completed and for a TD by quarterback Mike Olson sets a new Lumberjack passing record, some of which were set back in 1958. Olson has reset or tied nine one-game or season records in addition to resetting a career record for passing so far this season.
