THE GREAT METEOR CRATER

Between Flagstaff and Winslow, on highway 66, lies the world's best-preserved impact-collision crater. The 570-foot deep crater was formed some 22,000 years ago and today it is studied by astronauts before journeys to the moon, earth scientists and by public school students.

The crater is named after Daniel Moreau Barringer, who did the original research in the area. He determined that the giant depression was caused by a falling meteorite. The crater is open daily until sundown.

TODAY'S GAME

By TIM TYERS
Sports Writer, Phoenix Gazette

Northern Arizona University's defensive unit has been trying to put itself together all season.

Following a 25-16 Homecoming win over Montana State and a 20-7 "Snow Bowl" win over Nevada-Las Vegas, Coach Ed Peasley was hoping the defensive unit had accomplished that task.

But some spoil sport invited Warren Woodson and Trinity University to the party, and the Axers fell 42-21 last week in San Antonio, Texas. Woodson has never shown great affection for NAU athletics and following another bout with "Mr. Nice," the Axer defense will have its work cut out today as it faces a hot and cold San Fernando Matador team.

San Fernando's Rod Humenuk -- like Peasley -- is making his debut as a head coach this year after serving at Southern California under John McKay. Peasley was at another Pac-8 school, Stanford.

But unlike Peasley, he inherited 23 battle-tested veterans of a near-respectable 4-6 team of a year ago while Peasley's inheritance was a 2-8 record.

Included in the Matador group are defensive back Tommy Lucero, middle guard, Jim Dixon and flanker Ted Covington, all of whom were named to the All-California Collegiate Athletic Association first team. Also back from last fall is Leon Pettigrew, the leading rusher who has moved to tight end because of his pass catching ability and defensive backs Tyrone Peterson and Ron Jackson.

Still, Humenuk has his problems.

The Matadors carry a 2-4 record with wins over San Francisco State, 34-0, and 15-14 over the University of California at Santa Barbara. Last week Valley State dropped a 19-0 league game to California Poly of San Luis Obispo. Other defeats have been at the hands of California State of Hayward, 26-3; Long Beach State, 34-7; and 36-8 to California State of Fullerton.

"We had too many individual breakdowns against Trinity and occasionally our entire team suffered breakdowns," said Peasley. "This is something we can't afford against San Fernando today."

Running back Dan White, who gained 152 yards on 26 carries last week was named the top offensive player for NAU while cornerback John Carroll was tabbed the outstanding defensive player as he was in on 13 tackles.

Pow-Wow Visitors to Flagstaff

EACH JULY 4th Flagstaff plays host to Indian Tribes from all across the nation. This colorful ceremony is highlighted by an all-Indian rodeo and nightly ceremonial dances. At left are a group of Navajos and at right are a group of Aztecs from Mexico City. The Aztec name for Mexico City was Tenochtitlan, before the Conquistadors came in the 16th century. The Navajos came from Alaska and Canada.

LOOKING AT SAN FERNANDO VALLEY STATE

By Don Weiner

Valley Sports Information Director

In the fall of 1956, the San Fernando Valley Campus of the Los Angeles State College of Applied Arts and Sciences was established on the present site in Northridge, California. Soon afterward the California Legislature passed Assembly Bill No. 971, which provided that the campus would separate from the parent institution July 1, 1958 and become San Fernando Valley State College.

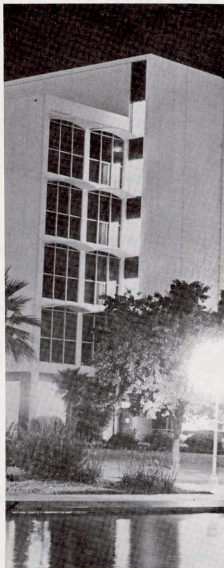

In the following 12 years, the campus more than doubled in size, covering an expanse of 350 acres by 1970. Twelve major, permanent buildings were erected during that period. The number of faculty increased from 104 to over 800 and the student population exploded from 3,300 to 24,000.

Also in that period, the number of fields in which bachelor's degrees were offered grew from 16 to 37, while the number of study areas in which master's degrees could be obtained increased from nine to 29.

During its first 13 years the college expanded at a rate probably greater than that experienced by any major institution of higher learning in history.

Valley State is still growing, with another major building program currently underway to accommodate the expected enrollment of 32,000 by 1974.

The School of Business is among the finest in the state, while the departments of physical education and journalism are rated among the best in the country. Valley State also offers outstanding courses of study in the fields of music, art, minority studies and the social sciences.

STUDENT TEACHING CENTERS AT N.A.U.

In past years education majors at Northern Arizona University almost had to accept student teaching assignments any place they could.

Today, NAU has student teaching centers in several Arizona locations and prospective teachers have a choice of places to go. Besides traditional placements in Flagstaff and other northern communities, NAU students can now choose Phoenix, Glendale, Scottsdale, Mesa and Dilcon on the Indian Reservation.

This exciting new concept permits students to move right into the community where they teach and become a part of it during this professional phase of their education. Also, for those living near a center, they can live right at home.

Additional information about doing student teaching in one of NAU's student teaching centers can be obtained by contacting Dr. Richard Packard, director of student teaching at NAU. The student teacher is fully supervised while at the center and can complete the professional education courses right at the center as NAU professors travel to these centers for classes.

WHERE THE ACTION IS --- Mrs. Carmelita Beauvais, a Navajo from Shiprock, N.M., a former head start teacher, is doing her student teaching this fall in the Phoenix Elementary District No. 1 at Garfield School.

GREAT ATHLETIC MOMENTS AT NAU

JOE KILLEEN

TIM RAJSICH

REGGIE CARNEY

TUCSON, ARIZ. (March 12-13, 1971) Paced by the play of co-captains, firstbaseman Joe Killeen and shortstop Tim Rajsich, the Northern Arizona University baseball team took two of three from defending Western Athletic Conference champ, University of Arizona, here over the weekend, winning 3-1 and 8-2 and losing 10-2.

In the series-opener, Killeen, now head baseball coach at Antelope High, batted in all three runs with a 2-for-5 performance at the plate and Junior Duncan Phillips held the Wildcat bats in check.

In the third game, NAU won 8-2 as Rajsich, now in the San Francisco Giant organization, went 3-for-4, scored twice and had a RBI and Killeen was 2-4 and scored twice. Sophomore Reggie Carney pitched the win.

In the 10-2 loss, the Wildcats exploded for 8 runs in the 4th to break a 2-1 NAU lead and take the 10-2 win. These were only NAU's second and third wins over UA in baseball; the other coming, 3-0, in 1963. NAU ended the 1971 season with a best-ever 23-11-1 mark to win the southern division of the Big Sky and lost to Gonzaga for the conference crown. Gonzaga won 4-3 and 12-1 while NAU won 6-1.

NAU's baseball team has been involved in post-season play four of the five years Al Flitcraft has been head coach.
