Enjoy Country Living in Town at this all New Townhouse Village

You're only minutes from downtown, yet you are miles away in spirit when you live at Sunrise, the all new townhouse village at Continental Country Club.

Here is a new experience for any Flagstaff family. You enjoy the great open country — 2000 acres of it — and still you are within the city limits with all its facilities and its advantages for financing.

The homes themselves are as warm and friendly as their names — New Day, Solar Wind, Dusk Fire and Twilight. These are townhouses in the new tradition. Easy to care for, with all the amenities: fireplaces, exterior living decks, washer, dryer, refrigerator with ice maker, dishwasher, self-cleaning oven, disposal. None of these are "extras". Neither are carpeting, drapes or mahogany doors.

Also included is a social membership in the Continental Country Club, truly an advantage no other townhouse community can offer a Flagstaff family.

You've always wanted to live by the fairway. Why not do it now?

NCAA Reorganizes Itself into Three Divisions

by DAVE DANIEL, NCAA News Editor

Some folks think the National Collegiate Athletic Association's reorganization into three divisions is much like ordering from a menu in a Chinese restaurant—with One you get football; or with Two you may choose one from Division I.

Actually, the NCAA remains the same—only the names have been changed.

The Constitution remains a single document, applicable to all members. The reorganization allows for each division to adopt amendments to the Bylaws applicable only to that specific division without the approval of any other division.

Each NCAA member institution will select its division through self-determination, except in the sport of football, in which Division I membership will consist of those 126 institutions currently classified as "major" by the Football Statistics and Classification Committee.

Self-determination is a key phrase. Many think that Division I membership is restricted to those 126 "major" teams. However, an institution may classify itself Division I in all sports other than football. Fordham University would be a prime example. Its program, except football, is Division I. Its football team is classified Division III.

To Each His Own

The members of each division may establish criteria for membership in that division subsequent to self-determination.

An institution in Division II or III may elect to participate in Division I in one sport, other than football or basketball, and must abide by the Division I Bylaws which govern the sport in question, even though the institution's membership rests in another division. An example could be Pan American University, which could have an overall Division II program, but could elect to participate in Division I in baseball, its strongest program.

There are numerous other examples, also, and it's possible that some institutions could compete in all three divisions in different sports. An institution's football team could be classified Division III, it could self-determine Division II for its overall program, and still choose Division I for one sport.

No matter what division an institution competes in, it will have a much better opportunity to compete in a National Collegiate Championship event.

The NCAA will sponsor a minimum of 39 National Championships by the 1975-76 year with at least 10 Championships in each of the three divisions.

Only one National Championship will be conducted in the sports of fencing, hockey, skiing, indoor track, volleyball and water polo. All member institutions are eligible to compete in the above Championships under eligibility rules of the division they elect for their overall program through 1975-76. After that, the member institution and its individual athletes must be eligible under the governing legislation for the division conducting the championship.

Each of the three divisions will have National Championship competition in the sports of baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, soccer, swimming, tennis, outdoor track and field and wrestling.

In addition, Divisions II and III will have a National Championship tournament in football.

Gymnastics and lacrosse championships will be sponsored in Divisions I and II and members of Division III will be eligible for the Division II championship in these sports.

In individual events, certain place winners from Division II and III championships who meet the qualifying standards will be eligible to compete in Division I competition, providing such individuals have met all academic and eligibility requirements of Division I, including academic standards for initial participation. For example, the top five finishers in the Division II and Division III cross country championships will be eligible to compete in the Division I championship.

Movement Possible

An institution may change its division membership by petitioning the NCAA Council if it meets the established criteria for membership in the division it wishes to be transferred to.

The Council itself will be restructured to give each division representation.

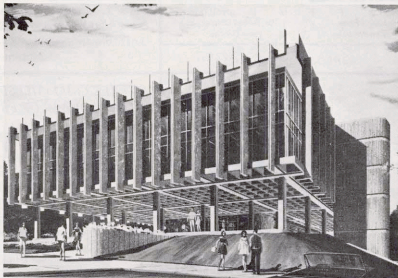

The Council will retain its 16-member make-up, but each NCAA District shall have a vice-president and eight vice-presidents will be elected at-large.

Among the 16 vice-presidents, eight will be from Division I members and four each will come from Divisions II and III. The president and secretary-treasurer will be ex officio members of the Council, as they currently are, and they may be elected from any division.

The Executive Committee will also be restructured with five members being elected from Division I and three from Divisions II and III with each division being represented by at least one member.

All standing committees of the NCAA will be evaluated with a view towards providing representation to each division where appropriate. Specifically, each of the three divisions shall be represented on all rules committees. This will be accomplished after the Association's 68th annual Convention in January in San Francisco, where the implementing legislation will be presented.

The reorganization plan was considered to be a vital course of action for the NCAA. "It will enable our members to enact rules which pertain to their own competition," said NCAA President Alan J. Chapman. "It will make the NCAA an even more valuable force in intercollegiate athletics."

TODAY'S GAME

By Dave Wimbish
Daily Sun Sports Editor

Texas Lutheran's Bulldogs brings a 2-3 record into today's encounter against Northern Arizona University, 1-3.

The Bulldogs, rated as one of the top independent college football teams in Texas, have had an up and down early season.

Coach Jim Wacker's crew comes into the game off a 17-6 loss to Prairie View A & M Saturday, in Prairie View's homecoming. TLC opened the season by falling to Howard Payne, 28-7, and Southwest Texas, 21-0, but came back to defeat State College of Arkansas 21-0, and Trinity University 21-0.

The Bulldogs broke loose for 277 yards and three touchdowns in the second half of the trinity game.

Fullback David Wehmeyer leads the Bulldog offense, as he has rushed for just under 400 yards in the first four games. He had compiled 2000 plus yards rushing over the past two and one half seasons. He is complemented in the backfield by tailback Gary Dworaczyn and flanker Russ Gartha.

The Bulldogs have averaged 202 yards rushing and 74 yards passing per game, with opponents' totals 154 rushing and 159 passing. Gaylon Tucker and Felipe McDonald have shared the quarter-backing duties for the Dogs.

Northern Arizona comes into the game off a 37-7 loss at the hands of powerful Louisiana Tech last Saturday. The Lumberjacks have also lost to North Dakota State, 36-7, and Weber State, 25-13, and have beaten Montana, 14-10.

The Axers will be led into the game by quarterback Dave Mendez, the leading passer in the Big Sky Conference, and 5-5 tailback Jimmy Smith, who rushed for 142 yards against Montana, most of it coming on hurling runs up the middle.

After three hours in hard wooden seats, spilled mustard and a roaring crowd, recuperate in Monte Carlo.

A football stadium is a great place to spend a Saturday afternoon in autumn. But, after the game, you're ready for some peace and quiet, some comfort and some elegance.

That's why the Monte Carlo is a great place to spend a Saturday evening in autumn.

Monte Carlo's radial-tuned suspension is designed to let you enjoy the advantages of its steel-belted radial ply tires.

The result is the kind of confident handling and comfortable ride you might expect from a fine personal luxury car.

Power disc/drum brakes and variable-ratio power steering are standard, of course. Because it just wouldn't be a Monte Carlo without them.

When you're ready to leave the roaring crowd behind, get behind the wheel of a 1974 Monte Carlo by Chevrolet.

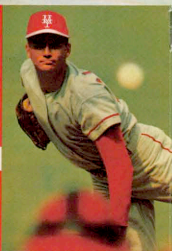

Chevrolet. Building a better way to see the U.S.A.

"Coca-Cola" and "Coke" are registered trade marks which identify the same product of The Coca-Cola Company.

TEXAS LUTHERAN COLLEGE

By M.H. Alderson
Texas Lutheran SID

Texas Lutheran is a senior, co-educational liberal arts college committed to academic quality with Christian perspective. The central feature of this perspective is a genuine concern for each student.

Although Texas Lutheran can trace its roots at least as far back as 1891—when the First Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Texas founded a school in Brenham—it has been a senior college only for the past 25 years.

Its 101-acre campus on the western edge of Seguin (pronounced Sa-Geen) is nestled in the Guadalupe River basin of south central Texas. Only minutes away is the metropolitan city of San Antonio (750,000). Founded as Walnut Springs in 1838, the settlement was later renamed to honor Juan N. Seguin, a distinguished Mexican-Texan who served in Sam Houston's army.

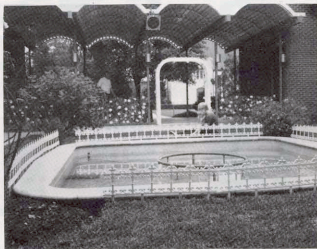

Seguin (16,000 population) produces a wide variety of goods, including bumpers, insulation, brick, structural steel, fiberglass cloth, flour, meat products, ditching machinery, furniture, uniforms, and poultry and bakery products.

TLC is fully accredited and offers the B.A., B.S., and B. Mus Ed., degrees. A student may select from 23 majors, and pre-professional programs are available in dentistry, medicine, engineering, law, nursing, and the ministry.

A number of special course sequence programs are offered in social work, oceanography, speech therapy, ecology, and journalism. Eighteen subject areas are approved for preparation in secondary education.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION GAINS NATIONALLY

Northern Arizona University's "Industrial Education Campus" covers the entire state. NAU has two Trade and Industry teachers based in Phoenix and from this, courses are taught all over the state for both pre-service and inservice industrial educators.

For many years, NAU has been recognized as a leader in Industrial Education and its services, because of this, are high in demand. For instance, this fall 16 classes are being taught off campus because of the demand—eight in Phoenix, five in Tucson, two at Fort Huachuca and one in Tempe.

"Qualified contract teachers are used for all courses plus we involve many educators from the Trades and Industry field," mentioned Dr. Robert Wooldridge, chairman of industrial education at NAU.

The Industrial Education program at NAU is offered through the School of Applied Science and Technology and majors are provided with the opportunity of earning a degree in Industrial Arts Education with emphasis in one of the eight areas—Drafting, Electricity-Electronics, Metals Processing, Power Transportation, Woods Processing, Manual Arts Therapy and Multiple Activities.

Service classes are provided for Interior Design majors in Home Economics as well as Engineering Technology in the areas of drafting and design.

COMMUNITY COLLEGES

NAU's Industrial Education program is one of many which the University works closely with to help Junior College transfers to fit into the mainstream locally and not lose credits. This Two-Plus-Two program also has provisions for persons wishing to work for a couple of years in between their college years to gain practical experience.

Under the work-study method, a student can complete a technical specialty, work a while then return to school and earn a degree. This degree can be in teacher education or simply to upgrade the individual's employment possibilities.

JOBS GO UNFILLED

Last year NAU could have placed some 80 more Industrial Education teachers than it had actual graduates. Currently, there are some 60 jobs still available. NAU had 50 graduates last spring—33 undergraduate and 17 with masters and all are working. Since 1967, NAU has graduated 199 students with bachelor degrees in Industrial Education while 144 have earned master degrees and three the educational specialist.

GRADUATE DEGREES

NAU offers graduate degrees in Industrial Education and a newly developed master's degree in Vocational Education. The latter degree is designed to meet the needs of people in all areas of Vocational Education and is a combined effort of the Industrial Education and Home Economics Departments within the School of Applied Science and Technology as well as the College of Business.

FIBERGLASS—Industrial education students at Northern Arizona University are busily making a fiberglass kayak which costs $40 plus a lot of work. From left, Tom Post, Flagstaff, IE instructor; Jerrie Jenkins, Payson; and Don Saffey, Cottonwood. A canoe costs $80 to build and can be in the water two weeks after a student starts on the project. Once a mold is made, almost anything can be made from fiberglass.

EXHAUST EMISSION—Checking exhaust emission for pollution is something that will be a must for automobiles shortly. Industrial education students at NAU work with many phases of automobiles in Automotive Transmission. Checking pollution are, left, Denver Johnson, a senior from Mesa; Dr. Chester Ainsworth, dean of the School of Applied Science and Technology; Ron Baker, IE instructor, and Ed Karter, ID major from Tucson.

METEOR CRATER

Just 40 miles East of NAU on US 66 (140) lies Meteor Crater, the world's best preserved and first-proven meteorite crater. This is a major topographical feature of the earth—a key to man's expanding universe. Each group of American astronauts have used Meteor Crater as an important training site where they learned crater mechanics and the geology of impact craters. This impressive sight is open to the public from 8 a.m. until sunset, 365 days a year.—Recognized as one of the world's great natural laboratories where research is conducted for terrestrial and interplanetary science.—The new museum brings astrology down to an understandable level.
